

terminal having a footprint of just 29.2x20.3 cm² to fit various types of counter layouts.

Powered by Windows Embedded for Point of Service, the TWINPOS-3500GI supports plug-n-play for retail device peripherals, creates operator and customer interactions through empowering components, and provides low lifecycle cost for retailers and partners in the POS system industry.

The 2.5GB flash storage model runs with zero spindle architecture to minimise hardware failures.

Also in line is the next-generation TWINPOS5500Ui. It's a stylish touchscreen POS terminal featuring illumination lights.

SEMI enters India

SEMI, the global industry association serving the manufacturing supply chains for the microelectronics, display and photovoltaic industries, has entered India with the setting up of an office in Bangalore. It has identified solar photovoltaic as its initial area of focus in India and announced the formation of an India PV advisory committee and an international PV exposition SOLARCON India in Hyderabad this year.

All association activities in the solar photovoltaic arena will be under the aegis of the PV Group—a global initiative of SEMI.

Renesas empowers alliance partners

The Renesas Alliance Solutions Seminar India 2008 was recently held in Bangalore. As part of Renesas alliance programme, the partners can get visibility on the Renesas website, gateway to work with Renesas worldwide and be invited to attend partner training.

The benefits of the alliance programme are technical empowerment, which includes receiving timely partner information, attending online training programmes, sharing of Renesas intellectual property and access to R&D.

The Bangalore seminar included
