Create applications for Nokia N97

Nokia is calling upon Indian mobile and Web application developers to create innovative consumer applications exclusively for its upcoming N97. The 100 best applications will be made available to consumers in India and across the globe on the Nokia N97.

The applications will be available through the newly announced Ovi Store—a simple and easy-to-use digital storefront. The Nokia N97, expected to be launched in India by mid 2009, will be the first device from Nokia to feature the Ovi Store.

The Calling All Innovators 2009 contest, which is currently underway, challenges developers from around the globe to create best-of-breed applications for use in the three categories of 'Internet innovation,' 'flash' and 'emerging markets.' Prizes include cash, the opportunity to demo at Nokia World in September and premium placement of the winning application on Ovi Store.

Why wait for Windows 7, get Ubuntu for free

The failure of Windows Vista left users angry and desperate for an alternative. To give users a fresh breath of free air, Canonical is releasing its latest version of Ubuntu operating
