Keyboard for Ultra-fast Gaming

Corsair Vengeance K90 has mechanical switches that provide the sensitivity and low operating force that professional gamers love

The plastic chassis of the Corsair Vengeance K90 keyboard has a brushed aluminium fascia, which hosts a floating array of mechanical keys, devoid of any frame. Reaction times are ultra-fast and responsive for quicker double and triple taps. The action is predictable and linear, unlike some gaming keyboards that have a tactile bump or the annoying click of a typist's keyboard.

On-board memory also ensures that your settings remain constant even when you plug the keyboard into another device. Due to 20-key rollover and anti-ghosting, the keyboard lets you press multiple keys at once while gaming, without worrying about input glitches.

Additional features include a soft rubberised wrist pad, high-quality media playback controls and a long, thick braided cable.
