

LG Optimus Vu

LG, which has been struggling in the smartphones market, has also forayed into the growing phablets segment with its Optimus Vu. LG Optimus Vu is powered by a 1.5GHz Nvidia Tegra 3 quad-core processor and runs Android 4.0 operating system. It comes with a 12.7cm (5-inch) IPS display, an 8MP rear camera and a 1.3MP front camera, 1GB RAM and 32 GB of internal storage. The handset is also equipped with HDMI port for connectivity. It is powered by a 2080mAh battery.

Price: ₹ 26,990

Samsung Galaxy Grand

Samsung recently launched Galaxy Grand Duos in the Indian market. Grand Duos is a dual-SIM smartphone featuring a 12.7cm (5-inch) WVGA display with a resolution of 480x800 pixels at 187-ppi pixel density and supporting 16 million colours. It comes with multi-window feature that allows seamless multitasking. You can browse the Internet, check e-mails and watch videos on the same screen.

The Grand is based on a 1.2GHz dual-core processor along with 1GB RAM and offers 8GB on-board storage, which is expandable up to 64 GB via a microSD card. It has an 8MP rear camera and a 2MP front shooter for video calling. The device is powered by a 2100mAh battery and features A-GPS and GLONASS support, Wi-Fi and Bluetooth 4.0.

Price: ₹ 21,500

Karbnonn A30 Ta Fone

Karbnonn's A30 Ta Fone runs Android 4.0 and sports a 15cm (5.9-inch) display, which is one of the biggest display screens on smartphones available in India. The device is powered by a 1GHz dual-core processor and equipped with an 8MP rear camera and a 1.3MP front shooter. Connectivity options include 3G, Bluetooth, Wi-Fi and GPS. The device is loaded with a 2500mAh battery.

Price: ₹ 11,400

Swipe F1 Phablet

Swipe F1 phablet has a 12.7cm (5-inch) capacitive display. It runs Android 4.0, and is powered by a 1GHz processor. Its 4GB internal storage capacity is expandable up to 32 GB via a microSD card. The device sports a 5MP rear camera and a 0.3MP front shooter. Connectivity options include Wi-Fi, 3G, USB and Bluetooth. The device is powered by a 2500mAh battery.

Price: ₹ 8990