

Deadline for Compulsory Registration Order extended

Manufacturers' Association for Information Technology (MAIT) has welcomed the government's decision to extend the deadline of Requirement for Compulsory Registration Order-2012, till July 3, 2013. The government had earlier set April 3 as the deadline for firms to sign the order, which makes registration mandatory for 15 electronic products such as video games, laptops and microwave ovens to ensure safety standards.

"The industry is delighted with this move taken by the IT and Communications ministry. The relaxation of the deadline will help maintain the
