

FLIR EX-Series

A new star is born!

Discover our new family member

At FLIR systems we produce a full range of thermal imaging cameras for the most demanding industrial applications. No matter what your application FLIR Systems has the perfect camera for your needs.

Our newest family member the FLIR Ex is the perfect entry model if you want to replace your spotpyrometer with a thermal imaging camera. The FLIR Ex-Series thermal imaging cameras allow you to see immediately where a potential problem area is located. With a FLIR Ex-Series thermal imaging camera you can see internal fuse damage, locate electrical problems, inspect electrical cabinets, check bearings, find motor problems, prevent down time and production loss.

FLIR Systems offers however a full range of thermal imaging cameras. Depending on your thermal needs and experience you can choose for our Exx, T400 or T600-Series models.
