

Gift 'Knowledge' To Your Friends and Your Near and Dear!

On birthdays, anniversaries and occasions like Diwali, New Year or Eid, you may be looking for gifts that are useful for the recipients and also last long. If so, what could be better than gifting a magazine that they may like and that would add to their knowledge, month after month.

If the person you want to gift to is an electronics engineer or likes the subject as an industrialist, academician, student or a hobbyist, you may consider gifting him Electronics For You, the most popular magazine on the subject. He/she will love you for it – every time he/she looks at it.

If the person you have in mind is interested in electronics as a businessman or as a non-technical person, gift him/her subscription to Electronics Bazaar, which is far above the rest in terms of the latest and credible information it offers.

For those interested in software, what can be better than Open Source For You magazine. It would keep the person updated with the latest in the field of 'open' and free software available – saving a lot of money in the long run. It comes with a DVD packed with very useful information/software every month.

What's amazing is that gift subscription to any of these magazines would cost you much lesser than what you would normally be paying for most other gifts! Please check the amount below that you have to pay for 12 issues, including packaging and forwarding:

Magazine	You Pay (Rs)
Electronics For You*	☐ 960
Electronics Bazaar	☐ 960
Open Source For You	☐ 1150

*For Electronics For You Plus edition that includes a very useful DVD every month besides delivery by courier.

It includes LED Bazaar

The subscription can start from any issue/month you desire, though normally a magazine is mailed from the next issue being sent to all the readers.

One more thing: Access to digital version of the magazine(s) will also be provided to the person you are gifting to, so that they do not miss the information in case of any postal delay in receipt of their copies.

And, if you are not subscribing to the magazine(s) yourself yet, don't forget to gift it to yourself first!

Please note, these rates are likely to increase soon! So please send your order before the increase to avail these rates.
