

with energy-efficient LED ones. But, Chinese companies are set to scoop up a major chunk of the ₹ 240 billion worth of orders, as domestic manufacturers are finding it difficult to meet this demand.

As LED technology has low wear and tear, the market would be sewn up for about two years. According to industry experts, the order size could eventually rise to as many as two billion bulbs. At an average ₹ 120 per LED, the business could potentially add up to about ₹ 240 billion.

Azure Power commissions 100MW solar power plant

Azure Power is set to commission a 100MW solar plant under India's National Solar Mission (NSM) policy in Jodhpur, Rajasthan. The company had won this project under the NSM phase II batch 1 to supply power to Solar Energy Corp. of India for 25 years.

With the commissioning of this project, Azure Power is now the single largest owner and operator of solar PV projects under the NSM with a cumulative operational capacity of 142MW under this policy.

The government announced the Jawaharlal Nehru National Solar Mission (JNNSM) in 2010 and has allocated solar PV projects totalling 1250MW over three tranches of 150MW, 350MW and 750MW since. Azure Power has successfully won in all the three tranches, where 5MW, 35MW and the maximum permissible capacity of 100MW has been won and commissioned respectively under each of the three tranches.

Philips to raise local sourcing for LEDs

Philips Lighting will increase the level of local content in its LED lamps to up to 70 per cent in six to eight months to tap the rising demand for these products. The company is expecting 40 per cent of its lamp sales to come from LED segment by 2017.
