

Trust Matrix to solve your
Time-Attendance and
Access Control puzzle.

Time-Attendance and Access Control projects are extremely human-oriented and complex.

No two organizations have identical attendance policies. Different facilities like corporate office, factory and branch offices differ in working hours, leave management, access policies, etc. Various departments like marketing and finance vary in their work habits. In addition, people working at different levels in the same department need different time-attendance and access control flexibility.
