Put Your Designs To The Test

As the world's leading technology distributor with in-depth experience in electronic system designs, we know the importance of testing. For this reason, Avnet now offers Testing as a Service (TaaS) at its Avnet Design Center. Combining our expertise in testing using state-of-the-art equipment with engineering consultancy from our in-house experts, this new service puts your designs through the demanding rigors of testing to ensure that they meet your highest expectations and industry standards. Technologically advanced, yet convenient and cost effective, TaaS by Avnet is your best solution for accelerating your design cycle and getting your products to markets faster.
