Smartwatch from Apple, Nike

Motivation in motion

Apple Watch Nike+ is the result of the long-running partnership between Apple and Nike. From leading-edge comfort to the way it connects you to your running buddies through Nike+ Run Club, this watch is your perfect running partner—on your wrist. It has a built-in GPS to track your pace, distance and route—even if you do not have your iPhone with you. It comes with a bright display, making it easy for you to read your metrics. Apple Watch Nike+ is water-resistant up to 50 metre.

Nike+ Run Club app provides you with the motivation of millions of runners behind you and expert guidance around every turn. It lets you track your progress, sends reminders to you triggered by your friends' shared activity and schedules your workouts, among others.

Sony introduces wireless in-ear headphones

Perfect music companion for sports enthusiasts

Taking the extra-bass audio experience to the next level, Sony India has unveiled MDR-XB80BS sports wireless extra bass in-ear headphones. This addition to Sony's wireless headphones lineup comes with uncompromising sound quality, distinct finish, portability with aesthetic design and an urban appeal. Catering to sports enthusiasts who prefer good sound quality, deep beats while working out, these headphones are tuned for EDM, which has the best matching tempo (120 to 140 beats per minute to give that extra bass and push needed to enhance sports performance).

A research by sports scientists at Brunel University, UK, which is a world-leading research hub on music for athleticism, has demonstrated that music can reduce your rate of perceived effort by 12 per cent and improve your endurance by 15 per cent.
