PORTABLE SPEAKER

ZEBRONICS' NITRO OFFERS EASY CONNECTIVITY TO AUDIO SOURCES

Zebtronics has introduced a battery-operated portable speaker called 'Nitro.'

The speaker plays music right off a memory card, USB device or any connected audio source and includes a built-in FM radio with preset function.

It has a black front mesh set off by a glossy red fascia bearing a striking graphic on the music theme. The metallic casing shields it from everyday bumps and knocks while on the move. The speaker has been optimally placed inside a small plastic housing to create the best possible sound without compromising on portability.

The speaker measures 20x3.5x7 cm³, and plays digital music via a 3.5mm stereo connector. It is powered by an inbuilt rechargeable Li-ion battery pack, and runs for 90-120 minutes on a single charge.
