Mega Electronics Exhibition & Seminars

Plus EFY Readers' Choice Awards 2010

Electronics For You Expo 2011 received an overwhelming response from the electronics industry. With a footfall of over 10,000 during the three-day event and participation of 258 exhibitors, it was the first electronics mega show of 2011. Eighty per cent of these exhibitors have already booked space for the Expo in 2012. The event was also studded with a series of seminars and technical workshops. Other major attractions of the show were the Innovations Zone, where 15 innovations were showcased, and the Buyer-Seller Forum organised by ELCINA. Facilities like Digi-Key's Internet Cafe, Executive Lunch Zone, free wireless access by Digi-Key, lounges for media, VIPs and visitors, shuttle services and valet parking made the event an enjoyable experience for all.

Inauguration by Dr Ashwani Kumar

Inaugurating EFY Expo 2011, Dr Ashwani Kumar, Minister of State for Science & Technology, Planning and Parliamentary Affairs, said, "The government has taken a series of policy initiatives and programmes in the field of information and communication technologies to implement the agenda of the Eleventh Plan. The challenge is to make our development inclusive, sustainable and enduring to create a leading global position in the area of electronics and IT hardware manufacturing." Lighting the lamp, the minister also inaugurated the ELCINA-EFY CEO Summit.
