Asia Pacific Institute of Information Technology, Panipat, Haryana

Asia Pacific Institute of Information Technology (APIIT) SD India is established by SD Education Society with the objective of overcoming the worldwide demand for skilled engineering and management professionals. Today, APIIT is amongst leaders in the Asia Pacific region for providing engineering and management education. APIIT SD India's vision is to nurture intellectual capital through its centers of excellence, which are governed by the best practices in quality education.

Sambhram Institute of Technology (SaIT), Bangalore

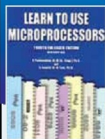

Sambhram Institute of Technology (SaIT) is an offshoot of the Sambhram Group, promoted by entrepreneurs, bureaucrats and technocrats from a variety of backgrounds. Thanks to this strong management base and an equally strong resource base, SaIT enjoys a premier position today in technology education. As a result, students from far-flung areas of India and other countries are entering the portals of SaIT in increasing numbers.

The Sambhram Education Trust started SaIT, inspired by the newly emerging vistas on the global technology scenario, and its niche programmes aim at training people who will go on to become key agents in transferring technology to various spheres of human endeavour. The institute has earned equal recognition for excellence in co-curricular and extracurricular education.

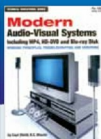

SaIT is affiliated to Visveswaraya Technological University and is recognized by AICTE. It also has tie-ups with the Illinois Institute of Technology, USA, and the University of Florida, USA.
