

BHARTI AIRTEL LTD

Rs 594,672 mn (2010-11)

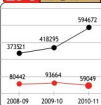

Bharti Airtel Ltd is a global telecommunications company with operations in nineteen countries across Asia and Africa. The company offers 3G voice and data services, fixed-line, high-speed broadband, IPTV, DTH, turnkey telecom solutions for enterprises, and national and international long-distance services to carriers in India. It recently announced a new organisational structure across its India and South-Asia operations. Through this, the company aims to decentralise decision-making and increase accountability across all levels of management. The new structure, which comes into effect from 1 August 2011, has two distinct customer business units with clear focus on business-to-customer and business-to-business segments. The company has also appointed Rajiv Rajgopal and Shashi Arora as the new CEOs for its broadband/data and DTH/media services.

BHARAT SANCHAR NIGAM LTD (BSNL)

Rs 360,000 mn (2010-11)

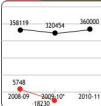

A government of India enterprise, BSNL provides comprehensive range of telecom services across the country except in the major cities of New Delhi and Mumbai, which are covered by another state-run firm MTNL. In May this year, the government appointed R.K. Upadhyay, a 1975 batch officer of Indian Telecom Services, as the chairman and managing director of BSNL. The company is betting big on enterprise business to arrest its declining market share and revenues, and expects to clock over Rs 30,000 million from the segment in the current fiscal. The telecom entity is also digitising its land records with an aim to generate additional streams of revenue. The department of telecommunications (DoT) recently asked the PSU to work out a revised plan for reducing its headcount by about 100,000 through various schemes, including voluntary retirement scheme (VRS).
